

Betsy Devlin, Associate Director
Materials Recovery and Waste Management Division
Office of Resource Conservation and Recovery
United States Environmental Protection Agency

Betsy Devlin is currently the Associate Director of the Materials Recovery and Waste Management Division in the Office of Resource Conservation and Recovery at US EPA. This division is responsible for a great many of the regulations governing hazardous and solid waste under the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA). Betsy has served at EPA for over 25 years and, has held a variety of staff and management positions in the Office of Water, the Office of Enforcement and Compliance Assurance, and in the Office of Solid Waste and Emergency Response (where her current position is located). Betsy holds a BA from Georgetown University and a J.D. from George Washington University.